About Niamh

Hello, nice to meet you!

I'm Niamh and I'm a wedding photographer and videographer.
I have both an Undergraduate and Masters degree in Media and Broadcast production.

After launching my business in September 2021, I have worked closely with couples on their big day. My approach is relaxed and chilled and I like to capture the beautiful heartfelt moments, whilst melting away into the background of your big day.

I am much more than your wedding photographer/videographer. I'm your best friend for the day, guiding you through each stage and helping you feel comfortable in front of the camera. I also have quite the knack for pinning a corsage or two and acting as the bridesmaid you never knew you needed!

I'm also proud to be an LGBTQIA+ ally.

Why Me?

As a wedding vendor, I understand that weddings can be expensive. My best advice is to look beyond the price of your photographer/videographer and look at the value that they give you. Let me explain a bit more about what I mean.

Ask yourself: What is a vendors turnaround time? Will you get a preview of your big day shortly after the wedding? How do they deliver the final images and video? Digitally via link, or in a beautiful bespoke gift? Does their visual style and approach to their work suit your taste?

Please don't think I am disregarding the importance of budget and pricing, I am very aware of the financial pressures of getting married and work regularly with couples to create bespoke package to fit their budget.

I am simply suggesting to look at the value of your photographs and wedding video in a different light.

It's unlikely a guest will remember exactly how you decorated each table at the reception, or how you arrived at the ceremony; but your wedding photos and video will be memories to last a lifetime and are ultimately, one of the biggest investments you will ever make.

Further Details

How it Works

I will be the lead photographer and will sub-contract a videographer to work with me. Coverage of the day begins at morning through to speeches.

I will be the sole editor for both the wedding photos and videos. This will ensure that everything will be edited consistently and in my signature style.

For all questions regarding this package, please don't hesitate to ask and I will happily clarify via message, email or over the phone!

The Luxe Package
